

Psychology

The Bachelor of Arts with a major in Psychology offers a comprehensive introduction to the contemporary discipline of psychology. Graduates of this program are well prepared to seek employment in personnel, vocational counseling, criminal justice, journalism, or entry-level counseling in a government-funded agency or hospital. Graduates are also prepared to seek admission into a graduate program at the master's or doctoral level.

Entry Level Positions

- Personnel assistant
- Human resources assistant
- Probation/detention officer
- Child care worker
- Activities coordinator
- Social services caseworker

Further Education/Experience Required

- Psychologist
- Occupational therapist
- Rehabilitation counselor
- Career counselor
- Social worker
- School counselor

Employers of Psychology Majors

- Schools
- State/federal government
- Colleges/universities
- Private practice
- Mental health agencies
- Community agencies
- Rehabilitation agencies
- Business and industry
- Correctional facilities

Professional Associations and Affiliations

American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy www.aamft.org

Chronicle of Philanthropy
www.philanthropy.com

American Board of Forensic Psychology www.abfp.com/

Encyclopedia of Psychology www.psychology.org/links/Career/

American Counseling Association
www.counseling.org

Federal Jobs Digest
<http://jobsfed.com>

American Mental Health Counselors Association
www.amhca.org

Human Resources
www.jobs4hr.com

American Occupational Therapy Association
www.aota.org

Human Resources Jobs Page
www.nationjob.com/hr

American Psychological Association
www.apa.org

Nonprofit Career Network
www.nonprofitcareer.com